What is CLEP?

CLEP (College Level Examination Program) is a computer-based testing program designed to help students earn credit for college-level knowledge. Nationwide over 2,900 colleges use CLEP exams to award credits toward associate’s, bachelor’s degrees or to satisfy graduate school pre-requisites. NY City teachers may qualify for salary differentials, adding thousands to their annual earnings.

Each participating college, university or agency independently establishes their own policies concerning credit awards. Nassau students are encouraged to check with an advisor before registering and review the score requirement and course equivalent chart at ncc.edu/clep.

What is the most popular exam?

Nationwide, Spanish is the most popular. At Nassau students fluent in Spanish, French or German earn 6 credits with a score of 62 or above.
