

NASSAU COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The Power to Succeed

61st Annual Commencement Ceremony

Sunday, May Twenty Third
Two Thousand Twenty-one
At ten o'clock a.m.

Office of the President

Graduates,

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, faculty, staff and administration we congratulate you on this milestone achievement of graduating from Nassau Community College.

This is your moment!

You should be very proud of this accomplishment. An NCC degree is only obtained through hard work, dedication, and a passion to succeed. Your family, friends, faculty, coaches and staff are right alongside you for this celebration.

Whether you are transitioning to another higher education institution, immediately entering the workforce, or a combination of both, I know you will make a positive impact in this world. Your potential is limitless.

You are NCC graduates. You possess a remarkable ability to adapt, matched with unwavering determination and resiliency. These qualities are proof points that you will thrive and reach your goals, no matter what life throws your way.

Your academic journey here at NCC has transformed you to the person you are today. Your experiences, the knowledge gained, and the relationships made will no doubt have an impact on your future. These relationships were potentially created, tested, and/or strengthened by the changes our world has seen since early 2020. While society seen so much change, you have remained resolute and we know these bonds will continue to flourish.

Please enjoy this time in your lives. With everything going on in the world, take a moment to appreciate the hard work and time you have dedicated to this accomplishment. You've earned it!

So once again, Congratulations. In times of doubt remember this moment and know you have the strength and determination to do anything because the passion in your hearts, empathy in your souls, and ability to embrace life-long learning, are all beyond measure.

Regards,

*Dr. Jermaine F. Williams, Ed.D.
President*

ACADEMIC TRADITIONS

BEARER OF THE MACE — In the academic procession, the President of the College is preceded by a mace bearer, who is a distinguished member of the Faculty or Administration in a ceremonial capacity. The custom derives from medieval times in England when the mace bearer served as a bodyguard. As a medieval officer was invested, opened court, or otherwise appeared in public functions, a mace bearer would precede the lofty person holding high a formidable weapon for protection. By American colonial days the custom had grown to represent the dignity of the office. The President of the College will wear the seal of the institution at the ceremony denoting his office.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE — The wearing of a gown and hood in college dates back to the Twelfth century when universities were developing under the influence of the church. Many of the students were monks who wore a cloak with a cowl or hood attached. The gown gave necessary warmth in unheated buildings and the hood covered the tonsured head; served as a shoulder cap; or, when hanging from the shoulder, became a bag to use when collecting alms.

Academic costume originated at Oxford and Cambridge over six hundred years ago when each university created its own costume partly from ecclesiastical, partly from secular sources. In the United States, the use of caps, gowns and hoods has been continuous since colonial times when Columbia University transplanted to America many of the regulations of the English universities. Several colleges had faculty academic costume codes before 1880. By 1893 many had adopted academic costume for the graduates, at student request, to provide a senior badge, to take the place of the archaic “swallowtail” dress suit, and to revive the tradition of a continuing university life. Since 1895 the American Council on Education has prescribed the academic costume now generally worn by the governing board, faculty and graduates at commencement.

The Associate Degree gown is gray. At the base of the yoke on either side of the front panels is a tab with a customized NCC embroidered on it. The yoke is made in two pieces, divided in the center back with decorative cord stitched into it. The Nassau Community College hood is made of rich, black velveteen cloth with modern design of orange and blue, the school colors, displayed in a “V” chevron of grosgrain ribbon. The mortarboard cap of grey has special lightweight metal edges and a tassel of blue and orange. In academic tradition, the tassel is worn on the right until the point in the commencement exercise when the degree is granted. At this point, the “crossing of the tassel” by each graduate signifies the achievement of the Associate Degree.

The Bachelor’s Degree gown is long, black, “worsted stuff” with semi-still yoke, shirring across the shoulders and black, long pointed sleeves. The length of the hood is three feet with a velvet edging two inches wide.

The Master’s Degree gown, sometimes made of silk, has the same yoke effect, and long sleeves which are closed at the bottom with a cut out portion resembling a “fish tail.” The forearm protrudes through a notched slit near the elbow. The length of the hood is three and one-half feet, with the velvet edging three inches wide. Unlike gowns denoting other degrees, the master’s gown may be worn open as well as closed.

The Doctor’s Degree is preferably of silk with velvet panels, three horizontal velvet bands on the upper arm of the full, bell-shaped sleeve. The length of the hood is four feet with panels at the sides, velvet edging five inches wide.

The cap, or “mortar-board,” is made of black serge or broadcloth with tassel. The tassel of the doctor’s cap is usually made of gold bullion. Hoods are lined with silk and show the official color or colors of the university from which the wearer received the degree. The velvet edging may be of the color distinctive of the department in which the wearer majored. Examples are orange for engineering, green for medicine, dark blue for philosophy, white for arts and letters, purple for law, light blue for education, golden yellow for science, brown for architecture and the fine arts, lemon for library science, and drab for business and commerce.

The Class of 2021

The class includes three groups of students: those who have just completed their studies in the Spring Semester and are listed under May Candidates; those who completed their work in the summer sessions of 2020 and are listed as August Graduates; and those who finished their work in the Fall semester of 2020, listed under December Graduates. Honors students are identified by asterisks, although those for the May Candidates are based on incomplete records compiled only through the Fall semester. While the list of August and December graduates is official, the list of May candidates may be incomplete and should not be taken as an official roster of graduates.

The highest honor, summa cum laude, is Awarded to students whose final grade point average at the College ranges between 3.9 and a perfect 4.0. It is indicated with three asterisks. The magna cum laude, whose average ranges between 3.7 and 3.89, is indicated by two asterisks, and the cum laude candidate, ranging between 3.5 and 3.69, is identified with one asterisk. These honors are noted on the diplomas of the recipients.

Board of Trustees

Graduates, Parents, Spouses, Families, Friends – On behalf of the Board of Trustees of Nassau Community College I welcome you all to Nassau Community College's Spring 2021 Virtual Commencement Ceremony.

To our Graduates your hard work, dedication and perseverance have brought you to this point. You made it!

You are not the same individual you were when you first came to NCC.

The relationships you have made here, whether it be with faculty members, staff, friends, have been an integral part of your transformation journey here at NCC.

You have proven yourselves to be resilient and committed to achieving the academic goals you set for yourselves. The pandemic forced many of us to overcome multiple challenges both in our professional and personal lives. You, our NCC Graduates, chose to transform those challenges into opportunities and have thrived to complete your education at NCC. This determination and strength will no doubt lead you to heights you can't even imagine.

The College has provided you with a solid foundation for your future successes and we are confident you are ready for this next step, whether that be continuing your academic career or going directly into the workforce. You will forever be a part of the NCC community and we will always be here to support you.

And with that on behalf of the NCC Board of Trustees we say good luck, stay focused, and enjoy the ride!

To all the supporting parents and families who are celebrating this moment this is yours to cherish also.

Your child or loved one has accomplished another milestone in their lives and you have been a part of it.

Congratulations to you all and God Bless.
